Measles, Mumps and Rubella (MMR) Immunization

Nursing Assistant Training Program Students:

Please have your Healthcare Provider complete the following form and bring to your appointment with College Nurse to review and approve.

The immunization for measles (Rubella), mumps and rubella (German measles) is combined into a single injection called the MMR. The vaccine has components of the viruses that cause the disease. The MMR immunization is safe and helps the body's immune system make the antibodies against measles, mumps and rubella. All health care workers are required to show evidence of having received the MMR vaccine or immunization records. Two documented doses are needed. If there are no records, a blood titer may be drawn. Students are considered immune if the titer(s) is positive.
